

Liberal Presidential Candidate Wins Vote

Four Killings In Violence During Vote

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The Liberals of Dr. Ramon Villeda Morales, the popular "Little Bird" of Honduras' masses, today appeared a landslide winner in yesterday's violence marred elections.

At least four killings were reported in clashes between political partisans in two provincial towns. Elsewhere voting was orderly and the military junta's promise of a free election appeared fulfilled.

A constitutional assembly chosen in the balloting will meet Oct. 21 to form a new government replacing the junta that has ruled for a year.

The assembly can declare itself a president. If the Liberals win two thirds of the seats they could hand the presidency to Villeda Morales, former ambassador to Washington. He missed election by a slim margin in 1954.

On the other hand, the assembly could call instead for congressional and presidential elections. Villeda Morales says he prefers this course.

There has been dissension in the Liberal party. Apparently Villeda Morales counts on the people to elect him over any other Liberal who might enter the race.

On the basis of early returns, the Liberals were expected to win about 40 of the assembly's 58 seats.

A Liberal party victory had been expected. Abraham Williams National Reformist leader, and Gen. Tiburcio Carias, former dictator and head of the Nationalists, privately conceded the Liberals would win.

Williams is a presidential aspirant. Carias wants the presidency for his son Gonzalo.

Official reports said four men were killed and nine persons wounded in outbreaks at two small towns.

Two men died and seven persons were wounded in fighting at Vado Ancho, near the Nicaraguan frontier. Liberals, barred from the polls, took control and locked up the commandant. The military junta sent troops to the town to place the commandant under arrest.

Blair Thinks Special Bond Session Needed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair said today he is convinced an immediate special session of the Missouri Legislature is necessary to clear the way for the state to sell the rest of its $75 million worth of building bonds.

He said he planned to confer with members of the Legislature by telephone today and hoped to reach a decision during the day.

If he can be assured that a workable plan can be set up for quick legislative action, he said the session probably would be called between Oct. 1 and Oct. 10.

The state offered $30 million worth of bonds for sale last Tuesday but got no bids. Bond houses said they could not buy the securities under present conditions because Missouri law limits the interest the state can pay to 3 percent and requires that the bonds must not be sold below par.

Blair said the building program at state penal, mental and educational institutions cannot go forward until the bonds are sold. Many institutions have plans ready for bidding but the money is not available to let contracts.

Depot at Green Ridge Is Burned to Ground; Cause Not Determined

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad station at Green Ridge was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon. The cause was undetermined.

Residents discovered the fire shortly before 3 o'clock and summoned the Green Ridge fire department and the Pettis County department. When discovered the flames were shooting out the roof of the building and before the county department arrived it was afire throughout the building.

Several lines of hose were laid out by both fire trucks and volunteers manned the lines, pouring water over on the adjacent lumber yard to keep the fire from spreading there. Other lines were used to wet down the ties of the railroad to keep them from burning.

The loss was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Hope New Leader Can Bring Peace

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Haiti today tensely awaited the counting of ballots in yesterday's national election, hopeful that whoever becomes president can bring peace to this land of turmoil.

But even as the counting began, partisans of ex-Sen. Louis Dedeaux threatened to burn down Port au Prince if he is defeated for the presidency.

Both Dedeaux and his bitter political enemy Dr. Francois Duvalier claimed victory in the election of a president for the next six years.

A third candidate, Clement Jumelle, called on voters to boycott the election. He charged there was fraud.

The Ministry of Justice announced from a million to 1,300,000 of Haiti's 1,600,000 eligible voters cast ballots. This would indicate few heeded Jumelle's call.

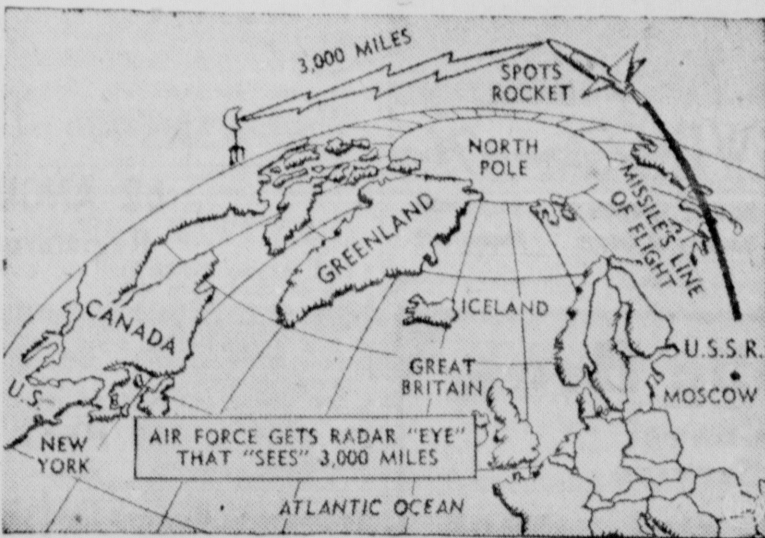

Women were eligible to vote for the first time.

For all the violence that has plagued Haiti since last December, when the first of a succession of five governments was heaved out, the voting was peaceful.

Provisional President Antonio Kebreau said there was only one fatality. A soldier shot down a voter who attacked him in the southern town of Jacmel. Minor incidents were reported at other points.

Kebreau, who seized power June 14 as head of a three-man military junta, maintained order with 2,500 well-armed soldiers and police.

RADAR FOR LONG - RANGE LOOK AT MISSILES - Newsmap shows how new, powerful radar that can scan objects as far as 3,000 miles away might be used to spot the flight of intercontinental ballistic missiles. According to a statement by Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, a radar system using the powerful equipment would be set up "in the near future."

Flu Epidemic Hits Alabama University

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—An outbreak of flu has reached epidemic proportions at the University of Alabama.

Dr. James B. McLester, director of the Student Health Service, yesterday said tests are being conducted to determine whether it is Asian flu.

McLester said 56 patients were admitted to the university hospital at the peak last week. Many more students were treated.

Hold Hope For Those On Ship

Fear Sailing Ship Lost in Stormy Sea; Find Empty Boats

LONDON (AP)—The Hamburg owners of the German sailing ship Pamir said today they presumed the four-masted bark had been lost in the storm-lashed Atlantic.

The owners held out hope, however, that some survivors of 86 aboard might still be found.

The sailing vessel vanished Saturday after radioing that she had lost all her sails about 550 miles southwest of the Azores.

The owners said 62 cadets, of whom 25 were on their first trip, were aboard the vessel. There were 17 regular crew men and 7 officers. This made a total of 86 persons aboard.

The finding of two empty lifeboats and a raft previously had raised fears the vessel had gone down.

Rescue planes and ships crisscrossed the mid-Atlantic without finding a trace of the four-master that had weathered many a storm in her 32 years at sea.

Her operators held out hope that the Pamir had survived the storm kicked up by Hurricane Carrie. It was pointed out the lifeboats and raft could have been ripped from their lashings.

The Pamir, carrying barley from Buenos Aires to Hamburg, radioed Saturday night that she was sinking about 600 miles west of the Azores.

Murder Trial Of McQueen Starts Today

Sgt. L. B. McQueen, WAFB, went on trial Monday morning for the murder of Roscoe President, Sr., 215 East Hogan, on the night of July 11.

The first two witnesses testified that they found the body of President lying in a face-down position in a doorway at 403 East Pettis, the residence of McQueen.

First witness on the stand was Sedalia Police Officer William Miller who testified that he was called to the East Pettis address and after his arrival there he found five empty cartridge casings. Four of them were found in the house and the fifth was found under the body of the victim.

Dr. Gordon Stauffacher, who was called to the stand next, testified that death was caused by a bullet that entered from the back and that there were three other bullet wounds in the back and one in the forearm.

Lt. John F. Williams, supervisor of the State Highway Patrol laboratory, was the third person to take the stand. In his testimony, he said that he had made tests which indicated that at least two of the shots had been fired at a distance of from 6 to 12 inches. He also identified two bullets as having been fired from the gun which police said was the one that was crushed beneath it as it was turned around.

Young Driver Killed

CALIFORNIA, Mo. (AP)—A car going too fast for safety went out of control on a gravel road a mile west of California yesterday, overturning and killing the driver, Larry Frederick Inman, 17, of California.

The Highway Patrol said Inman apparently was thrown out when the car rolled over the first time, then was crushed beneath it as it overturned again.

Terry Keil, 20, California, was injured critically and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital at Jefferson City.

Follows Drought

Rains Bring Floods To Areas in Texas

DALLAS (AP)—Texas, pounded by storms and floods last spring then scorched by drought again during the summer, faced new flood threats today after rains of up to 8½ inches in some areas.

Floods menaced San Antonio and the Medina area in south central Texas after 8½ inches of rain were dumped along the Medina River northwest of San Antonio yesterday. An unofficial 7½ inches fell in parts of Beeville, to the southeast.

Officials warned of possible lowland flooding along the Medina and its tributaries. One family was marooned on a ranch near the town of Medina, 50 miles northwest of San Antonio.

The Escondido Creek in Karnes County rose swiftly after up to 6 inches of rain hit the area. Lowland residents were cautioned.

Most of the thunderstorms were in the eastern half of the state as a cool front moved through and out into the Gulf of Mexico.

Small craft warnings were hoisted along the coast. Lesser storms hit parts of West Texas. Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Austin, Beaumont and Abilene also got hard rains.

Kenedy had 5.85 inches yesterday and Nordheim, another south Texas community, more than 8 inches unofficially.

Many other points had minor flooding, some wind and lightning damage and a rash of traffic accidents.

Rises sending the Guadalupe River and Cibola Creek, both north of San Antonio, to near bankful were expected by the Weather Bureau.

Little Rock Has Violence When 8 Enter

Police Fight Off Crowd, Block Entry Of Mob to Building

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Little Rock High School officials withdrew the eight Negro students who entered Central High School today.

Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann radioed an announcement at 12 o'clock (CST) "tell the crowd the Negroes have been removed from Central High School."

The radio announcement was sent to police officers at the scene.

Eight Negro pupils walked quietly, and without hurrying, into Central High School today — while the crowd's attention was diverted by another incident—and then a swirl of snarling men and screaming women tried to break through police lines.

Police fought them off, clubbing two men, and apparently pulling a gun on another.

Nobody got through.

Pupils coming out of the school said three of the Negro boys who entered school had "blood on their clothing" and fights had broken out inside the building.

The students told reporters the "Negroes were chased through the halls when classes changed" and were attacked by other students.

The initial violence outside the school was a frightening sight. Women burst into tears and a man, hoisted up on a wooden barricade, roared: "Who's going through?"

"We all are," the crowd shouted. But they didn't.

The drama-packed climax of three weeks of integration struggle in Little Rock came just after the buzzer sounded inside the big 2000-pupil high school at 8:45, signaling the start of classes.

Suddenly, on a street leading toward the school, the crowd spotted four Negro adults, marching in twos, down the center of the street.

A man yelled, "Look, here come the niggers."

They were not pupils. One appeared to be a newspaperman. He had a card in his hat and was carrying a camera.

I jumped into a glass-windowed telephone booth on the corner. The scene was clearly visible. As the crowd surged toward the four Negroes, they broke and ran.

But they were caught, on the lawn of a home nearby. Whites jumped the man with the camera from behind, rode him to the ground, kicking and beating him. They smashed the camera.

This, obviously was a planned diversionary movement to draw the crowd's attention away from the school.

While I was dictating what I saw, someone yelled—"Look, they're going into the school."

At that instant, the eight Negroes—three boys and five girls—were crossing the schoolyard toward a side door at the south end of the school.

The girls were in bobby sox and the boys were dressed in open shirts. All were carrying books.

Addresses World Bank Meeting

Ike Urges Finance Ministers Of Nations to Fight Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today appealed to the free world's finance ministers to fight inflation, lest global prosperity turn into a depression "and all the evil consequences we know so well."

Eisenhower addressed the opening session of the boards of governors of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, convening here for their 12th annual meeting with delegates from 64 nations.

He warned that inflation has become "a worldwide phenomenon today," and must be recognized as "a threat to sound economic growth."

The problem calls for wise and courageous leadership in every country, the President declared.

"It is a call that must be heeded, for inflation not only destroys the savings, pensions and insurance policies of the frugal, its aftermath can be a depression which saps the strength and vigor of government, of industry and of people," he said.

He called attention to great economic strides made the world over.

"Investment, productivity and trade have expanded on a scale and at rates not previously known," he said.

"The task ahead, it seems to me, is to strengthen those policies that foster healthy economic growth."

"We must have growth that does not endanger stability; we must have stability that does not throttle growth."

The President had interrupted his Newport, R. I., vacation to address the colorful assembly of some 500 bank governors, alternates, delegates and observers. He received warm applause.

Eisenhower called on the financial leaders to consider carefully whether their programs of expansion and investment are too large.

"We cannot successfully put a continued overload on our resources," he cautioned. "Rising prices have confirmed this economic axiom."

"For those of us charged with public responsibilities this means conscientious efforts to limit government demands on the economy—a difficult task in this day of heavy defense outlays," he said.

"To central bankers we must look for conscientious efforts to maintain credit policies that are consistent with sound economic growth. To fail to do these things is to ask the economy to carry more than it can."

"It will react to this pressure through rising prices. If unchecked this leads to reaction and downturn and all the evil consequences we know so well."

Sedalia Woman Hurt In Collision Sunday

One person was injured and two cars damaged in a collision in the 1700 block West Broadway about 5:20 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Robert J. Stephens, 610 West Sixth, received a head injury when the car in which she was riding was hit from the rear. Her injuries were not believed serious.

Involved was a 1951 Dodge driven by Robert J. Stephens, 610 West Sixth, and a 1954 Ford sedan driven by Roger E. Long, Albert Lea, Minn., also headed west.

According to the police report, Stephens said he had to stop when a car ahead of him stopped, and he was hit from the rear. Long reported he was blinded by the sun and when the car ahead stopped he could not stop quickly enough.

The front end of the Ford was damaged and the rear end of the Dodge damaged.

State Suspends Two Liquor Licenses Here

The State Department of Liquor Control has announced the license suspension of several Sedalia and area taverns for violation of liquor laws, according to Hollis Kitchen, supervisor of the department.

injured. According to Trooper Stohr, Blaine was driving a 1953 Plymouth sedan west on the 32nd Street road, while the other car, a 1949 Pontiac sedan, was headed north on a gravel road.

Trooper Stohr reported the intersection was blind, vision of the two drivers being obstructed by high weeds and grass which grew along the shoulder and along the two roadways. He reported it was impossible for either driver to see each other until reaching the intersection.

The Plymouth crashed into the right side of the Pontiac mid-center, knocking it to the northwest corner of the intersection. The left rear door of the Pontiac came open and was crushed against a telephone pole.

The front end of the Plymouth was extensively damaged and the two right doors of the Pontiac were smashed in, the right front fender also being damaged.

The Chamberlin wrecker towed the Plymouth to the Chamberlin Service Garage, while Parks wrecker towed the Pontiac to the Parks Service Station.

Speaker Compliments Group on Work

An interesting feature of the Publicity Chapter Night program of the Women of the Moose, held on Tuesday night, was an informal talk by Past-Governor Lloyd Deuschle, publicity chairman of the Sedalia Lodge.

Publicity, said the speaker, is another word for advertising. Good publicity helps sell the organization by acquainting people and promoting interest in the many activities of the Moose. He went on to tell of the wonderful program of entertainment for both children and adults available to all members, and the Moose organizations are active participants in many worth while civic and charitable undertakings, on a national and local scale.

Membership, the speaker said, entitles a person to take part and enjoy all the privileges of the Loyal Order of the Moose, at home or anywhere else in the United States or Canada which is supporting a Moose program. Letting others know of the advantages of membership is the publicity chairman's job.

In Sedalia the Order of the Moose has had an exceptional year and recognition in the form of the jeweled merit pin has been awarded to Past-Governor Cecil Curtis. He urged that the organization continue to progress by consolidating its gains, looking forward to even greater success in the future. This can be achieved, he said, by the help of each member. Members, he said, enjoy the Saturday night dances, the family night programs, the dinners served the last Thursday of each month, so, advertise, let others know about it that they may also share the good time.

Senior regent, Karen Marcum, presided over the business meeting.

A benefit card party, sponsored by the publicity and hospital chairmen, will be held on Monday night, Oct. 14th. Proceeds will be divided between muscular dystrophy and a student nurse being sponsored by the hospital committee. Final details will be worked out later.

A winner roast, to be held at the Catholic Community Center, Thursday, Sept. 26th, will take the place of the usual birthday and anniversary dinner for the month of September. Everything will be furnished by the lodge.

During the social hour a game called "Publicity" provided a lot of fun, with the prize for solving it going to Gertrude Head.

Refreshments were served by the publicity chairman, Rose Robb and her committee.

Mary-Martha Class Has Quarterly Meet

The Mary and Martha Class of the Windsor Baptist Church held their quarterly meeting at the church Wednesday afternoon with 17 members present.

Meeting opened with the singing "Love Lifted Me" followed by prayer by Mrs. R. E. Feaster. The program was presented by Mrs. I. A. Barnes with several members taking part. Mrs. Ethel Stevens presided during the business meeting. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. R. E. Feaster, teacher; Mrs. L. W. Lingle, first substitute teacher; Mrs. Scott Sappington, second substitute teacher; Mrs. George Roy, vice president; Mrs. Frank Jackson, secretary; Mrs. T. H. Raney, treasurer; Mrs. I. A. Barnes, program chairman.

During the social hour refreshments were served by members of Group 4. Next meeting will be at the church Dec. 11.

Scottish Rite Club Has Dinner-Meeting

The Sedalia Scottish Rite dinner held Thursday night at the Smithton Methodist Church was attended by more than a hundred persons with a group of Scottish Rite members and their wives from Kansas City as special guests.

The speaker of the evening was Ewell Lee from Kansas City. Talks were also made by Edwin W. Kettleson, secretary of the Scottish Rite, Kansas City, a former Sedalian and by Dr. Bob Allen of Kansas City.

The meeting was presided over by B. E. Heacock, president, and several prominent Sedalians and Kansas Citizens were introduced.

This is the first of the annual prospect dinners this fall. The dinner was served by the Ottaville Eastern Star members. Arrangements of dahlias, some measuring ten inches in diameter, were used on the tables.

Miss Doris Stott at Town and Country

Department Supervisor

Sedalia Girl Finds Career With Hometown Shoe Co.

Doris Stott, president of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club, is a busy career girl, with a big job at Town and Country Shoe Co.

Doris is supervisor of the order department with approximately 25 girls working under her. One of her many jobs is to handle all calls from customers and to try to create good will.

The order department acknowledges customers' orders and tabulates information for production control. All orders for either make-up or in-stock go to Doris' desk. She must see that there is a reply to customers' inquiries on delivery, with approximately 800 pieces of mail being handled by that department per day.

It is quite a job to see that customers' shoes are placed into the factories and shipped on time, and then there are the deadlines for newspaper and magazine ads. Her department keeps in daily contact with the factories to follow through on deliveries. It is her job, too, to supervise shipping from factories and warehouses to their customers—how they ship and when.

Another thing that Doris does is to interview and process applicants and attend sales meetings of the company in St. Louis for the purpose of coordinating sales and office goals.

For girls looking for a career, Doris is a good example. She has reached a topnotch job for one so young, and it all happened in her own hometown. Although she was born in New Franklin, she came to Sedalia when just a tot, because her dad was with the MKT and was transferred here. She grew up here, received her education in the public schools, was graduated as valedictorian of her class from Smith-Cotton High School and then went to Central Business College.

No going out-of-town for this girl. She knew what she wanted — a business education — and she could get one just as well at home — so she did. Then she went to work for Town and Country and has continued to climb upward holding a responsible position there for several years.

Doris is a busy little bee, and has been active in civic affairs. A member of the Business and Professional Women's Club she served for two years as secretary, was public affairs chairman, second vice-president, first vice-president and last spring was elected president. In the Eastern Star, Sedalia Chapter No. 57, she served as Worthy Matron in 1957. She is now a member of the Past Matrons' and Past Patrons' Club. In the Civic Club Council she served as secretary and is now vice-president.

In her church Doris, who is a talented musician, is organist at the East Sedalia Baptist Church, for both morning and evening services. She has served as superintendent of the Young People's Department of Sunday School and this year will be superintendent of the Young Adult Department; she has been training director of her church for a number of years and also, Training Union director for all Baptist churches in Pettis County.

An attractive young woman, with pretty clothes which she wears well, Doris has much poise and is ready for any emergency that may arise. She proved that when at the last minute at the Grand Chapter of Eastern Star last year she was called on to play the organ in Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis. There was no other form of entertainment available and she happened to be on the stage. It didn't bother her a bit. She always seems to be prepared and she simply went to the organ and played.

Doris lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stott, 917 East Seventh, and she has at least one hobby that everyone who knows her knows about — earrings.

Entertain With Progressive Dinner Monday

Epsilon Beta, Beta Sigma Phi, entertained 18 guests, Monday evening, Sept. 16, with a progressive dinner. A night club theme was carried out in decorating and the name of a famous restaurant was printed on a large sign in front of each home visited!

Assembling first at the home of Mrs. Dan Doty, Jr., the group was served cocktails and hors d'oeuvres. A huge brown derby, bearing the name The Brown Derby, was used for decoration. Those serving were Mrs. Barbara Doty, Mrs. Mary Alice Flores, Mrs. Marilyn Van Horn, Mrs. Jane Walker.

The guests then drove to The Ritz, home of Mrs. Bob Fingland, for the main course. The long table was covered with a white cloth. Around the room and hanging from the ceiling were silver and blue flowers. Small tables were also decorated with blue and white candles giving a nightclub affect to the room. At each place setting was a favor and the place cards were made of blue paper, sprinkled with silver glitter. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sieschen and Beta Sigma Phi Grace was said by Miss Mildred Sutherland. Mrs. Laura Beatty, Mrs. June Harmon, Mrs. Dorothy Lyles, Mrs. Connie Brummet, and Mrs. Betty Rose Thompson served. The president, Mrs. June Flippin, introduced the sponsor, Miss Mildred Sutherland; the director, Mrs. Nadine Fingland, and guests.

The dessert course was served at the Stork Club, the home of Mrs. Richard Flippin. Guests were served by Mrs. Flippin, Mrs. Ila Rymer, Mrs. Margie Wagenknecht, and Miss Mildred Sutherland.

The entertainment for the evening, consisted of a vocal solo by Mrs. Barbara Arnold and many accordion solos by Mr. Danny Pogornik.

Engagement

Mrs. Jewell McCannon, Warrensburg, formerly of Knob Noster, announces the engagement of her daughter, Marie, to Donald Dean Lamb, son of Mrs. Will P. Lamb.

Asthma and Hay Fever Relief Comes in Minutes ...and Lasts For Hours

Tiny Tablet Now Available Without Prescription!

New York, N. Y. (Special) — Medical Science has developed a new, tiny tablet that not only stops asthma spasms, but brings relief to those who suffer from hay fever attacks. Authoritative tests proved this remarkable compound brings relief in minutes — and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful spasms.

This fast-acting formula is prescribed by doctors for their private patients who suffer from asthma or hay fever. And now sufferers can obtain this formula — without prescription — in tiny, easy-to-take tablets called Primatene.

So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma or hay fever spasms... get Primatene, a money-back guarantee.

Musical Program Is Presented to PTA

The first meeting of the Ottaville PTA for this school year was held Tuesday night at the school with Mrs. Eldon Loney presiding.

The devotion was given by the Rev. Dillon, pastor of the Methodist Church. The subject of his talk was "Building". A business session followed.

Mrs. Danny Glenn presented a short program. High school girls ensemble sang two selections, "Wait for the Wagon" and "Old Cape Cod". Christine Zumsteg played a piano solo and Mrs. Frank Yeager sang "Autumn Leaves". Mrs. A. Mendenhall was the accompanist. Superintendent A. Mendenhall introduced his staff of teachers.

Wesley Church Circle Holds Regular Meet

Circle No. 6, WSCS, Wesley Methodist Church, met Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Joe Allen, 1421 South Beacon. There were 16 members present.

Mrs. W. L. Bates gave the spiritual life lesson.

Mrs. Myron Lindquist presented the program using "The 17th Annual Report of Women's Division" as the basis.

Names were chosen for prayer pals.

The meeting closed in saying the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Games were played during the social hour after which refreshments were served by the hostess. The hostess for the October meeting will be Mrs. J. Chipman.

Sunday School Class Holds Birthday Dinner

The Philathea Class of the First Methodist Church held its annual birthday dinner at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Runge. There were 28 members and four guests present. The guests were the Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Hobbs, Mrs. Lovina Magness and Mrs. Hazel Stoffel.

After a contributive dinner a short business meeting was held presided over by the president.

The devotion was given by Mrs. T. E. Gasperson.

Dogs Welcome Autumn

This is one of those eventful weeks on the calendar — the beginning of Autumn at 1:27 Monday morning and the observance of 30th National Dog Week.

Barking vigorously, Sedalia's dogs seemed to be aware of the arrival of both.

Just why dog week was scheduled for observance in September instead of August — the dog days' month — has not been explained by the National Dog Welfare Guild, Inc., whose motto is "Dog's Best Friend." But that's the way it occurs this anniversary of Dog Week in the tenth month.

In 1928 when the week was first organized, the average dog owner began to read more about dogs and their proper training in behavior. This year there is being stressed the combination for character between dog and child — the loyalty, tenderness and kindness with all living things which a pet helps develop in a child.

Dogs can be ornery cusses at times. They are much like children that way. But both can be trained by patient adults. Actually dogs can be trained not to bark all night long and keep the neighbors awake. This requires as much personal attention, however, as teaching them how to bring in a newspaper or smell out birds on a hunting trip.

The objective of this year's Dog Week is to focus attention on the need for better understanding of dogs, their place in civilization and their proper care which make them more valuable to their owners. This is one of the broad objectives; another is to emphasize the rights of those who do not own dogs.

The latter may be partially accomplished if every dog is trained in obedience through proper care and feeding with wholesome nourishing food.

Every pet should also have enough love of the family to warrant the expenditure of sufficient money to buy the animal a dog license. There are a great many tags as yet unpurchased in the city clerk's office.

So a salute to Dog Week — and Autumn, too — and may the invigorating air of fall bring about a better understanding among dogs, men, women and children — a stimulating combination for mutual character building.

Reds Plan To Develop Syria As Model

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is traveling through the Near East, reporting on the explosive situation there.)

By DREW PEARSON
DAMASCUS — (By Cable) — The Russian goal in Syria unquestionably is to develop that country economically and socially as a model to the Arab world. There is no sign of Syria's adopting Communism as a political doctrine. Moscow is too smart to try this.

The Kremlin knows Communism is anathema to the Moslems but it also knows these areas have lain fallow for centuries under Turkish rule and are now ripe for cultivation. Accordingly, the Kremlin has stolen the United States Marshall Plan-point 4 strategy and combined both with more money than Uncle Sam ever thought of spending.

Whereas the United States offered Syria sixty million dollars through the World Bank at 5 per cent interest, Moscow offered Syria between 350 and 400 million at 2 per cent. Whereas the United States offered Syria five million dollars worth of arms, Russia offered around 150 million. True, our arms offer was an outright gift while the Russian arms are being paid for on a long-term basis but the Russian offer of a vast arsenal was gobbled up immediately.

Aided Russian Victory
American farm policy plus American lackadaisical diplomacy also contributed to the Russian victory in that: 1) U. S. Diplomats failed to cultivate sufficiently the young Syrian army officers who were rebelling against the country's old feudal rule, and 2) Anti-Communist Ezra Benson unwittingly played into Communist hands by stealing Syria's wheat market.

Syria had long exported wheat to Southern Europe, especially Italy, but Benson — frantically casting around for ways to ease his budget — negotiated a sizable wheat deal at a cheap price with Italy. This not only usurped the Syrian market but lowered the price of wheat.

At this juncture Communist Bulgaria came along with an offer to buy Syrian wheat at five dollars per ton above the world price in exchange for various Iron Curtain commodities. Syria now is getting Czech arms, Hungarian telephones made in the I.T.T. plant Hungary seized from the United States, plus other equipment.

It was partly through this barter deal that Iron Curtain experts got into Syria on the most comprehensive development program seen in the Near East. It puts into effect for Syria what Harry Truman started planning for the entire Near East — namely, irrigation, roads, public works, to give the Near East the same 60,000,000 population it had under the Roman and Greek empires instead of the substandard ill-nourished 25,000,000 it has today.

Here's how the Truman plan has been usurped by Iron Curtain leadership: the new Syrian port of Latakia being built by the Yugoslavs at a cost of about fourteen million dollars was once a prosperous city during the time of the Crusaders. Latakia's harbor improvements, being constructed by the Yugoslavs who got the contract as low bidders, have two Danish engineers in actual charge. The swamps behind Latakia are being drained by Bulgarians at a cost of seven million dollars. Another ten million is to be spent on roads to the harbor.

Squeeze On Lebanon

The net effect of this tremendous harbor development will be to squeeze out Syria's neighbor, Lebanon, whose famed seaport, Beirut, has prospered since the days of the Roman empire. Lebanon, a good friend of the United States and the most reasonable Arab state toward Israel, is already suffering from border clashes and deteriorating relations with Syria.

Syrian development provides for a fifty-million-dollar railroad linking Latakia with the Hinterland plus about thirty million for irrigation and power projects plus six new airports to be constructed before 1960 under Bulgarian supervision.

Reds In Driver's Seat

All this is taking place in a country with which the United States enjoyed excellent past relations and which until recently had been following American leadership. The steps by which we lost that leadership are:

1) As early as 1954 Russia picked Syria as a key nation to woo in the Near East. The Russians knew the Syrians, isolated by mountains, were proud, ambitious, suspicious, as well as located astride two American and British pipelines and old caravan routes holding the geographic key to the Near East.

2) Arab hatred for Israel ricocheted against the United States because of U. S. friendship for Israel.

3) Social ferment began in Syria with unrest among the peasant classes against the landlords and the opposition of young army officers against the old army clique trained under French officers, like Gen. Afid Birri, now Chief of Staff, and General Serraj, Gestapo Chief in Syria. The young officers chafed at the easy-going attitude of their superiors.

While American observers failed to keep step with the new order, their friends were with the old order. It's the new order today, however, which is ruling Syria. The United States is on the outside looking in as Russian experts, in the driver's seat, help to guide, develop and dominate this key country of the Arab world.

At the present moment I see little chance for a change.

Think It Through

GETTING ALONG. When you've wanted something awfully bad, but had to give it up because you didn't have the money, didja ever find that you could "get along" pretty well without it?

Well, when the President's budget woke us out of bed last January, the bureaucrats started to shriek with pain and anguish at their terrible plight if they couldn't get their hands on all our money.

Especially National Defense, that sacred cow! "Don't touch her, Congressmen. You're gambling with the safety of the nation, if not of the whole wide w-o-o-rld. We've got to have 38,300,000,000 $'s. Not a penny less."

Well, National Defense is being cut by 2½ billions. And now what sweet music comes from the panting Pentagon?

"U. S. Defense held unharmed by cut. Secretary Wilson says he can get along with the reduced amount. The drastic economies will not alter the intrinsic power of the military establishment," etc.

Fascinating news, isn't it? Then we were threatened with the horrible thought of an extra session of Congress if a cut of a half billion in Foreign Aid were not restored. It's almost a life and death matter, we were told.

Well, since the war ended, we have spent 50 billion $'s—or more—on foreign nations. The cut is only 1 per cent of that amount. If a cut of one cent on the dollar will "break the heart of the world," it seems like the billions already spent have been pretty largely wasted.

"Some People Out Here Heard You Were Staying On"

Personal Resemblance Obvious

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In Orval Faubus you have a spiritual kin to Joe McCarthy.

Some personal resemblances are obvious: Two country boys. Both ambitious. Both slow starters. Faubus finished high school at the age of 24. McCarthy was well launched on a small town business career when he decided to get a high school diploma.

And of course there are differences too between the embattled governor of Arkansas and the late junior senator from Wisconsin.

Faubus is the play-it-close-to-your-chest type—not that he can't take dramatic action when he thinks the time is ripe. He did this in calling out National Guard troops to halt integration and-or preserve order at Little Rock Central High School.

McCarthy, on the other hand, was usually one to act first and weigh the consequences later. He would rush in where Faubus might fear to tread.

Their basic common ground appears to be this:

A conviction on the part of each man that he—rather than the generally accepted processes of law and order—had the solution to a problem of headline-making proportions.

With McCarthy the problem was communism. His argument was that he, or his Senate committee, alone had the full power and authority to cope with Red subversion. Time and again McCarthy and his aides said even the FBI couldn't do the job alone.

Faubus' target is school integration—or, as he puts it, "overnight" integration.

The authorities in Little Rock thought they could carry out peacefully the small degree of integration planned in their city this fall. They thought it was their responsibility to do so. Faubus held otherwise and called out the troops.

Neither Faubus nor McCarthy went so far as to say "I am the law," though both have been accused of taking just that attitude.

What they did do is operate outside of, or independently of, the law as most people understand it.

Each man claimed he was taking extraordinary measures to meet an extraordinary danger. Faubus has insisted his action was necessary to prevent violence. McCarthy contended his own course was essential to exposing traitors and their witting or unwitting accomplices.

Likewise, supporters of the two men follow much the same line of argument—that the end justifies the means, that you've got to peel off your kid gloves when you're in the ring against a vicious opponent.

There may be a further similarity between Faubus and McCarthy: A zest for the limelight.

McCarthy seemed to get much of his nourishment from publicity.

When it dwindled, so did Joe. In his last years it was pathetic, to those who knew him, to see his eagerness for a mention of his name in the papers.

About Faubus, it is harder to tell. But this writer recalls seeing him at Providence, R. I., after his recent meeting with President Eisenhower, standing in the glare of newsreel lights with very much the expression McCarthy used to wear when the cameras were aimed at him.

For McCarthy, the lights stayed on five years. About Faubus, again, there is doubt. Unknown outside his state a few weeks ago, he may continue as a national figure. Or, if Arkansas finds a peaceful way to live with integration, he may fade to the obscurity of a man without an issue.

Test Teamwork At Sea

Naval Exercises Will Take Into Account Sub Warfare

(Editors Note: Washington correspondent Joe Dear is one of 20 reporters covering NATO Operation STRIKEBACK; biggest exercises ever held by USA Navy, the core of the 6 nation-maneuvers.)

By Joseph A. Dear

OF OUR Washington Bureau
PRESTWICK, Scotland — The very nature of the fleet exercises now underway in the cold northern waters between Iceland and Norway indicates our Navy, and those of our allies, are basing preparations on the assumption that World War III will be very much like World War II.

The basis of the assumption is simple. There is also every indication that the Russian Navy also is preparing for a refight of an old war.

The purpose of Exercise Strikeback, and indeed of all the other NATO naval exercises, is to give allied forces a chance to work together. Coordination in training, tactics, and communications will enhance the effectiveness of the combined fleets. Air Defense, anti-submarine operations, and convoy protection are stressed in the exercises. And these have a familiar, World War II ring.

Russia, of course, has a big sub fleet. In fact, Russia is second only to the United States in naval power. The Navy assumes that Russia is building subs to cut sea lanes between Europe and the United States.

To the Navy, the Russian sub fleet offers the same challenge a high peak does to a climber. The mountaineer must vanquish the peak because it's there. The Navy must be in a position to smash the enemy sub fleet because it's there.

Admiral Jerauld Wright, Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic, was asked if he thought anything the Allies moved after a big war started, besides H-bombs, would have any effect on the outcome of the war. The implication of the question was that the Navy is preparing for a war it won't have to fight, because any all-out conflict would be settled by nuclear weapons and advanced delivery systems.

The Admiral acknowledged that theorists differed. But the esoteric aspect of the argument seemed to have little interest for him. It was enough that Russia has that big sub fleet. So long as they have it, the allies must be prepared to meet it.

And the Admiral discounts, for the moment at any rate, any thought that the Russian building effort is aimed at achieving anything other than the capability of disrupting commerce. He scouts the idea, for example, that the Russians are concentrating on construction of missile launching subs.

It's possible, of course, that our effort and that of the Russians may be misguided; that we both might invest defense money more wisely. But in the absence of incontrovertible evidence, Admiral Wright's down-to-earth approach seems sensible.

The Admiral wants all to know that the maneuvers in the Northern Seas have been scheduled for three years, and therefore are unrelated to immediate political questions. Nor are the maneuvers "war games," on which running scores are kept.

It is true that "aggressor" forces will play a part in Exercise Strikeback. But only enough forces will be so employed to lend realism to the exercise. For every vessel that operates with the "aggressor" will be deprived of the benefits of the Exercise. "Aggressor" ships won't have the chance to practice communications techniques and teamwork with the rest of the fleet. And that's the reason for the exercise.

Incidentally, in the Mediterranean area, the U. S. 6th fleet conducts training exercises similar to Strikeback every few months. Needless to say, the 6th fleet has achieved a high state of combat readiness.

First-hand reports on the operations of the 6th fleet will be on the way soon.

It takes two kinds of people to make the world — poets to write about the glories of autumn, and the rest of us to rake them up.

Missouri Population Again Faces Rural Decline

The state bureau of vital statistics predicts that Missouri will gain 94,000 in population in the next three years with the bulk of the increase in metropolitan areas.

The state agency recently estimated the 1957 population of Missouri as 4,206,000. It predicted that by 1960 there will be 4,300,000 Missourians.

However, the state agency estimated that 65 per cent of the state 114 counties will lose population in the next three years. The bureau guessed that 74 counties will lose population. The main increases will be in St. Louis city, Jackson, Greene, Platte and St. Louis counties.

The vital statistics agency figures that Missouri has increased its population about 260,000 in the last seven years.

Of the increase, the agency estimated that about 70 per cent was persons under 20 years of age, about 13 per cent in the 20-64 age bracket and 17 per cent in the over 65 age bracket.

Prison Committee Hearings Encourage Tattle-Tales

The House — Senate corrections committee seems headed full tilt toward undermining executive authority both in the offices of the governor and the director of corrections.

The permanent joint committee was set up by law in the last session of the general assembly with the dubious task of keeping an eye on the prison while the legislature is not meeting. A similar proposal was vetoed in the administration of Gov. Phil M. Donnelly because he thought such a committee would encroach the executive powers.

Since the prison committee started hearings last week, it has turned the prison employees into a bunch of tattlers. Guards, prison officers, even Warden E. V. Nash, have taken the advantage of testifying behind closed doors about the actions of their superiors.

In the Missouri prison set up the director of corrections is the overall head of all state penal institutions — the main penitentiary, Alcoa reformatory and the women's prison branch — answerable to the governor who appoints the director.

With the advent of the legislative prison committee, it seems that Col. James D. Carter, director of corrections, may now have to be answerable to 12 members of the legislature.

After the disastrous 1954 riots, most of the blame fell on the prison director and the governor. If anything happens in the future, we wonder if the legislature and its joint prison committee will be willing to accept any of the blame.

Million Dollar Campaign Planned by Missouri Drys

The Missouri Press Association has learned that the Christian Civic Foundation of Missouri plans to raise $1,000,000 for a campaign to promote local option prohibition in Missouri.

Plans for the campaign, which will feature an initiative vote on the "dry" question, were announced at Columbia recently during a convention attended by 300 organization workers and ministers.

William B. Setzer, associate director of the foundation, said the organization plans to raise the $1,000,000 in the next three years for "alcohol education." The main part of the education, he said, would be used to put over a state wide election on a "community right to govern law" — the dry organization's new name for a local option law.

The CCF plans to start circulating a petition next January and February to bring about an initiative vote on the local option issue. Setzer said the organization hopes to complete the petitions in time to get the issue on the ballot for the 1958 general election.

Setzer said the Christian Civic Foundation hopes to raise at least half of the million dollar goal through asking Missouri churches for contributions of one per cent of their budgets. The rest, he said, would be obtained from individuals, foundations and businesses.

Setzer said the dry organization would "use all stops on the organ" in the campaign for local option prohibition. This would include, he said, public education campaigns, the initiative vote, efforts to elect sympathetic legislators and information on how legislators vote and have voted on anti-liquor bills in the past.

The state's dry forces tried an initiative campaign to get local option on the ballot several years ago but failed to get the necessary signatures on the petitions required by the constitution. The issue is a perennial one in the state House of Representatives but is always killed in a committee shortly after its introduction.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Missouri and Kansas "Buddies" swarmed into Sedalia for the three-day reunion of the 35th Division during the World War. Numerous bands and drum corps were to participate in special contests. Addresses were on the program, by Col. Champ Clark and other leaders among the veterans.

1932
The city council passed an ordinance requiring persons firms or corporations, engaged as real estate agents, or brokers to pay a license of $25 a year and requiring those engaged in the real estate, loan or brokerage business to pay $40 a year.

1932
Mr. and Mrs. Julius Cohn, of the Quincy Apts., left for Kansas City to meet Mrs. Cohn's sisters, Mrs. Vehon and Mrs. Steifel, Salina, Kan., who were enroute to Chicago.

FORTY YEARS AGO
The Rev. R. H. Tanksley, pastor of the Christian Church at Tipton, and family was moving to 202 East Fifth, Sedalia, so that the children might have advantages of high school facilities here.

1917
With perfect weather, the 17th annual Missouri State Fair opened Saturday, Sept. 22. On Sunday Sept. 23, a sacred concert was to be given with Thivieu's band and grand opera singers, and a community chorus directed by Mrs. W. D. Steele was to be offered. Monday, under Red Cross auspices, a patriotic pageant, "America," directed by Mrs. Frank S. Leach, was to be presented.

The name of Michigan is said to have come from the Chippewa Indian "michigan," which means "clearing."

National Egg Price Average Higher Than Missouri's Price to Farmer

Trends in Price Show Changes In Production

By TED JOULE
MU Extension Poultry Marketing Economist

Monthly-yearly egg price trends have had a strong influence on Missouri's egg production and marketing programs. For years and during the first half of the 50's when prices are down one year they are up the next. This reflects what we have been doing about flock replacements following the egg price pattern. In other words, a lot of us are in one year and out the next. With that type production and marketing poultry farm management program, we are usually in and out at the wrong time.

On a seasonal basis within the year, Missouri records from 1929 through 1954 shows that when production is highest in the spring egg prices are lowest and when production is lowest in the fall egg prices are highest. However, for the past two years we have had a slight reverse to this yearly seasonal pattern, especially on a six months basis but again we are going back to the old pattern in 1957 of heavy production in the spring with lower prices and light production in the fall with higher prices.

One of Missouri's major problems is to try and narrow the spread or differential in our average yearly price with that of the average yearly U.S. price. Since 1951, the U.S. price has averaged from eight to 10 cents per dozen above Missouri's average farm price. Why should the U.S. average price be that much above ours? Perhaps other states are producing and marketing more of their eggs on a quality basis instead of the unclassified or current receipt basis. In checking one of our larger Missouri markets, we find for the five year period of 1952-1956 that the Grade "A" large price averaged nine cents per dozen higher than the unclassified price.

The seasonal variation showed four cents spread the first six months and 14 cents spread the last six months during this five year period. You will recall that the spread this last spring was down to two, three and four cents, while on the same market this fall the spread is now running from 16 to 18 cents.

Many Missouri ck owners are raising their average price of eggs by combining a well planned production and marketing program. During 1955-56 farm flock record year the average Missouri price was 32½ cents, the U.S. price during the same period was 41 cents. The average price of all record keeping flocks in Missouri was 41 cents and for commercial sized flocks (that is flocks from 500 birds up) averaged 44 cents per dozen or three cents above the U.S. price. Apparently these flock owners are getting away from the short term (such as seasonal and yearly) price trends and are instead setting up a definite program for their poultry enterprise with some adjustments as the situation warrants.

The efforts in addition to the individual flock owner by poultry organizations, various agencies and educational institutions as well as legislation is expanding the production and marketing of quality eggs. This combined effort will tend to lower the spread between Missouri and U.S. prices as the highest per cent of quality eggs we can get on the market will raise the general price level above the current receipt level that has had such a strong influence on our egg prices and trends in the past.

Use of Grain Can Cut Costs For Poultry

Missouri poultrymen can cut feed costs by making full use of farm produced whole grains, says state extension poultry specialists. These grains, if properly supplemented with good laying mash or protein concentrates, will not only reduce costs but will also give satisfactory egg output.

Since corn and oats are readily available on most Missouri farms, these grains are used most often for feeding hens. Extension specialists say yellow corn is one of the best high energy feeds and a good source of Vitamin A. They recommend corn at about two-thirds of the grain portion of the laying ration.

Wheat is a good feed grain for poultry but is usually more expensive than corn and has little additional feeding value. If used, specialists recommend that it make up 25 per cent of the grain ration.

Heavy, clean oats make a good poultry feed and may be used at 25 to 33 per cent of the grain ration. Missouri extension workers warn, however, that hens won't eat light, chaffy oats.

Barley can be used as an oat substitute but should not exceed one-half of the total grain ration. Since barley is less palatable than corn, wheat or oats, the birds may not readily accept it.

The grain sorghums are plentiful this year and are comparable to yellow corn in feed value, except for a lack of Vitamin A. They may be used at 50 per cent of the grain ration if safeguards are taken to offset this Vitamin A deficiency.

Rye is the one major Missouri grain not recommended for poultry feed.

Slaughter Hog Prices Expected To Be Lower

Slaughter hog prices are expected to be slightly lower for the next 30 days, says University of Missouri extension agricultural economists. The drop is attributed to the usual seasonal decline.

However, prices are expected to remain above those of a year ago for the next three months until late December.

Prices for barrows and gilts in early August were about five dollars a hundred above a year ago. The hog-corn ration was 16.3 for

Order Line according to needs

This year has been the first that we have made a special effort to get land owners to buy the kind of lime their fields need.

Maybe we just ought to say "For your land's sake, lime." I was pointing out the calcium and magnesium content of the four lime quarries in the county last Friday.

That is, we have the analysis of all four quarries posted on the office wall. This farmer was needing high calcium lime and inquired if it cost any extra. I assured him it did not. Even if it did, folks ought to buy the plant food they need.

I worked up 30 new soil tests Friday afternoon and evening. Probably 20 per cent needed more magnesium than they could get in high calcium lime. One field was so low that it needed a real high analysis of magnesium. Most fields that have been in alfalfa usually show some shortage of the element.

Back to the needs of the farms of the county, we have a lot of land needing lime so we ought to make full use of the A.S.C. assistance that is available. And while you are putting it on, tell your trucker from which quarry to haul it.

You may say you didn't know yourself. Well we have marked all A.S.C. recommendation sheets as to whether calcium lime, low magnesium lime or high magnesium lime is needed.

For your land's sake, LIME it. Can Repair Terrace Outlets

I was encouraging a young chap to build some terrace outlets rethe week ending Aug. 10 as compared to 10.7 for the same week last year.

The swing in hog production is apparently getting shorter, extension economists say. The 1957 fall pig crop is estimated to be two per cent larger after only a year of reducing numbers.

Improve Structure

Nitrogen Will Turn Organic Materials Into Fertilizer

By O. T. Coleman
MU Extension Soils Specialist

By the addition of nitrogen to straw, stalks, leaves, grass clippings, weeds, or any other organic material, it can be turned into valuable fertilizer. And this fertilizer will not only furnish plant food but will also add humus to the soil. This will improve its physical condition and structure making it work easier, hold more water, increase helpful bacterial activity and thus release more of its plant food to growing crops.

But since it is necessary for the soil bacteria to work on this material in order to break it down, the addition of 25 to 30 pounds of actual nitrogen to each ton dry weight of such material is needed to balance their ration so they will work on this material with greater vigor thus breaking it down and causing it to release its plant food more rapidly. In fact, if organic material low in nitrogen is turned under or worked into the soil, it increases the number of soil bacteria and if no additional nitrogen is added, these bacteria may take up some of the nitrogen that is already in the soil to balance their ration. This will reduce the available nitrogen and rob the growing crop.

Bacteria eat at the first table, and by adding nitrogen to give them a better balanced ration they will work faster on carbonaceous material, thus making the nitrogen more readily available to growing crops. Especially will this be true where one puts in a fall seeded crop, like wheat, rye or barley or seeds grass on land where there is a good covering of combine straw, corn stalks or weeds.

For best results this nitrogen should, of course, be balanced with phosphate and potash. Then if your soil is low in lime, the plant foods that are in this soil will be less available to crops. Your soil also may be low in calcium, an extremely important plant food. This would be especially important if you plan to seed legumes in this small grain or grass, or follow any of these crops with a legume, like alfalfa, because all legume crops require a good supply of these mineral plant foods, especially lime. If you have not already done so it would be a good idea to have a soil test made from samples representing the surface seven inches of each different kind of soil in all the fields you plan to seed to fall crops and then apply all the treatments as recommended by your county agent.

Reports Isolation Of Foot and Mouth Animal Disease Virus

Scientists have now taken a picture of foot and mouth virus, an animal virus even smaller than the polio virus. United States Department of Agriculture's Plum Island Animal Disease Lab reports its workers have purified, isolated and photographed foot and mouth disease virus, a round-shaped virus about one-millionth of an inch in diameter. They expect these new findings to aid greatly in the world-wide fight against this important livestock disease.

Protective Milk Use To Be Topic

Protection against harmful viruses and bacteria through the use of protective milk is to be one of the main topics discussed at the University of Missouri's Dairy Day in Columbia Sept. 24. A. C. Ragsdale, chairman of the University's dairy department, announces the discussion will be led by W. E. Petersen, dairy scientist from the University of Minnesota.

During the past dozen years or so, Petersen has developed the idea that by vaccinating cows with vaccines for disease-causing viruses and bacteria, humans could gain an immunity by drinking the correct amount of protective milk. The Minnesota Dairy scientist will give a progress report of his work on the Dairy Day program. Ragsdale says. Another item of interest on the Dairy Day program will be an explanation of the use of hormones to stimulate milk flow. C. W. Turner and Gayle W. Pipes, dairy department staff members at the University of Missouri, report a definite amount of success in their experiments. In their work with hormones, Turner and Pipes have brought a number of unbred cattle into full milk flow through the use of various hormones. Their work will be one phase of their report.

CHOICE PROSPECT

Sugar Ray Will Defend Title Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson defends his title tonight against Carmen Basilio in a battle of champions that could be quick and explosive.

The 30-year-old welterweight king from Chittenango, N. Y., is a 5-7 choice to dethrone the 36 or 37-year-old Sugar Ray in a fight scheduled for 15 rounds at Yankee Stadium. The betting is 1 to 3 the fight won't go the limit.

This is based on Basilio's aggressive, body-punching style and Robinson's vaunted sharp-shooting ability and preference for an opponent who comes to him. And the heavier walloping Robinson will have a weight edge of about eight pounds, 159 to 151, and a decided advantage in height (5-11 to 5-7½) and reach (72½ to 67½).

Favoring Basilio is the Harlem dandy's age (Robinson says 36, the record book has it 37), and the question of whether he will be able to unload his bombs against a swarming opponent who will be tossing sticks of dynamite himself. Sugar Ray always has had trouble with foes who crowd him, especially those who can take a punch like Basilio. The ring-scarred Basilio never has been stopped in 70 fights and dropped only once, that early in his career.

Once again, the general feeling is that Sugar Ray will have to nail his iron-chinned foe within six rounds to win.

The pick here is Basilio within 12 rounds. We believe the ex-Marine will cut down his taller rival with thumping body blows, especially with his left hook.

The two champs will share in a million dollar-plus gate with the theater-TV, radio and movies included. Robinson, on his 45 per cent of everything, and a $255,000 theater-TV guarantee, stands to collect about $500,000. Basilio, getting 20 per cent and a $110,000 guarantee for TV, should earn about $225,000.

The promoting International Boxing Club, lowering its sights from an earlier $750,000 gate prediction, now looks for a crowd of 35,000 and a gate of $600,000.

Basilio, a pro since 1948, predicted he would win and duplicate Robinson's unprecedented feat of winning the middleweight title while holding the welterweight crown. Robinson, as usual, made no prediction.

A pro since 1940, Robinson has compiled an outstanding 140-5-2 record including 91 knockouts. Basilio has a 51-12-7 record including 25 knockouts.

Scoring will be by rounds with a supplementary point system also used to help break draws. The winner of each round gets from one to four points, the loser none. The referee and two judges will be named at fight time.

Dallas Does Well With Its Old Men
DALLAS (AP)—This city's Texas League club is doing mighty well with its "old men"—that is, men considered old as baseball players go.

In five years it has banked $70,000 for two of them at a cost of only $5,000 and received 66 pitching victories that helped win a couple of pennants and has the club on the way to another.

In 1953 John (Red) Murf was bought from Tyler of the Big State League for about $5,000. He led the club to two pennants in three years as he compiled a 64-39 record.

At the end of the 1955 season, Murf then 33 years old, was sold to Milwaukee for $40,000 and a player to be obtained the next year.

That player was Murray Wall, who proceeded to win 16 games while losing 7. This season Wall had won 16 and lost 7 also when he was sold to the Boston Red Sox for about $30,000. Wall is 30.

But don't go away. Boston also is going to give Dallas a player. Dallas probably hopes the guy is 30 years old. They win more and bring a higher price that way. This thing could go on and on.

Final Step at Hand

Only Formality of Crowning Remains to Be Done Today

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Only the formalities of crowning the New York Yankees kingpins of the American League and the Milwaukee Braves rulers of the National League remained to be taken care of today.

These details could be settled tonight when the Chicago White Sox play Kansas City and the Braves meet St. Louis.

The Yanks assured themselves of at least a tie for the AL flag yesterday when they whipped the Boston Red Sox.

If the Cards lose one of the three-game set with the Braves, they can start counting their second-place money.

The White Sox kept their faint hope alive yesterday by stopping the Cleveland Indians 9-5.

The Braves clubbed the Chicago Cubs 9-7, but the Cards stayed with them by halting Cincinnati 7-5.

Among the also-rans, Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia 7-3, and Pittsburgh vanquished New York 5-1 in the National League. In the American, Baltimore edged Washington 6-5, and Kansas City won a double-header from Detroit 4-3 and 2-1.

The Yanks walked to their victory over Boston. Four of their five runs were forced in through walks. Until the sixth inning, it was a close ball game.

Ted Williams had hit a home run in the fourth—the first hit of the game—and the Yanks had tied it in the fifth. Then, with two out in the sixth, Tony Kubek and Jerry Lumpe singled.

Red Sox starter Dave Sisler—who had a 5-0 lifetime record against the Yanks—suddenly lost all semblance of control. He walked in succession, Enos Slaughter, Joe Collins, Hank Bauer and Gil McDougald, forcing in three runs.

Along came George Susce and issued a pass to Mickey Mantle, forcing in the fourth run. Yogi Berra grounded out to end the parade.

Williams finished his day's chores with a .383 batting average, which virtually assures him of the batting championship. Mantle went hitless in three trips to the plate and his mark dipped to .365.

The White Sox, Braves and Cards won their games the hard way.

The Sox presented Billy Pierce with his 20th victory, but the little left-hander slipped in the back door. He was behind 3-2 when he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth. The Sox went on to score four runs in that inning, so Pierce got credit for the game.

The Braves employed half a dozen pitchers against the pesky Cubs and had to overcome delicacies of four and three runs. Rookie Don McMahon, fifth of the parade, got credit for the triumph, although he needed help from Joey Jay after walking a couple of pinch hitters with one out.

The Braves were behind right up to the ninth when Eddie Mathews hit a home run to tie it. Then Hurricane Bob Hazle bashed another homer in the 10th and the ball game was over.

It took a six-run uprising in the seventh by the Cards to cut down Cincinnati. Still, the Redlegs weren't finished and they began to wake up again in the eighth, only to have relief pitcher Bill Muffett choke them off.

QUESTION OF REACH

Low Burdette Will Start For Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The desperate St. Louis Cardinals prepared to clash with the league-leading Milwaukee Braves in the first of a three-game do-or-die series tonight, knowing that one slip could mean the end of the pennant dream.

The Braves, leading St. Louis by five games with only six remaining to play, can clinch their first National League championship with a victory tonight. Manager Fred Haney who refused to admit the Braves are "in" until it becomes official so, has entrusted the clinching assignment to Low Burdette, his fidgety right-hander.

Burdette (16-9) will be opposed by Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, the erratic left-hander, transformed from the biggest disappointment to the hottest hurler on the Cardinals. Although he has an 8-10 record, he has won seven of his last 10 decisions.

Except for Haney, the Braves are convinced they have the flag in the bag.

"There's no doubt in my mind now," said Warren Spahn after yesterday's 9-7 triumph over Chicago, the Braves' sixth victory in succession. "We're in. The Cards are dead. One more big one, and it's all over."

Yesterday's victory over the Cubs, after trailing 4-0 and 7-4, acted like a tonic to the players. It sort of opened up a valve, letting loose all their pent up emotions and restraint which they had kept bottled up ever since they moved into first place in early August.

"Tomorrow night's the night," exclaimed catcher Del Crandall, a happy grin lighting up his face. "Yeah," agreed Henry Aaron, the club's big gun. "That's the game I've been waiting for all year. This is the chance for us to do it all by ourselves, with no help from anybody else."

Leghorn Hen Sets Record for Number Of Eggs in One Year

FLEMINGTON, N.J. (AP)—Meggi O'Day, the Mickey Mantle of the poultry world, has added another championship to her list of titles. The little Leghorn hen laid another egg yesterday, her 354th in 357 days, to break the old record of eggs laid in a one-year span.

The previous record of 353 eggs in 365 days was established in 1949-50 by a Leghorn from the J. A. Hanson & Son farm in Corvallis, Ore. Meggi has seven more days to go to increase her margin over the old title holder.

Meg is shelling 'em out as a participant in the Hunterdon County egg laying contest, supervised by Prof. Clarence S. Platt of the Rutgers University College of Agriculture. Platt says she probably will continue her daily production until the end of the month.

When Meg failed to lay Aug. 14, she already had established a record by laying 284 eggs in 284 days without a miss. Since last October, the only other days she has skipped an egg were last Nov. 3 and again Aug. 20.

Meg and 12 of her sisters were entered in the contest by the Stern Brothers hatchery in South Vineland.

Four-Minute Mile Barrier Beaten 24 Times
NEW YORK (AP)—Since 1954 when Roger Bannister of England ran the mile in 3:59.4, trackmen have been under the 4-minute mile 26 times.

When Derek Ibbotson of England set the record of 3:57.2 on July 19 three other runners were under four minutes in the same race. They were Stanislaw Jungwirth of Czechoslovakia, Ron Delaney, the Irish runner who schooled at Villanova, and Ken Wood of England.

In all, the 4-minute mile barrier has been broken ten times in 1957. In 1956, the time was eclipsed nine times, three times in 1955 and four times in 1954.

Sixteen runners have beaten four minutes. Australia's John Landy has accomplished the feat six times. Record holder Ibbotson has beaten the charmed time on four occasions.

In a tie. That was the 14-14 deadlock with Boston University in 1953.

Seek Way To Preserve Olympics

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—The International Olympic Committee buckles down to work today in search of a way to save the world's biggest amateur sports show from death by over-expansion.

Some 8,000 athletes and officials are expected in Rome for the 1960 games. New nations are coming into the Olympic movement and those already in are expanding their sports program. The financial burden of organizing such a massive program including 18 different sports has gone beyond the means of many aspirant cities.

Avery Brundage, American president of the IOC, says: "Amateur sports has become big business."

The executive board of the IOC met yesterday but kept its customary secrecy about decisions.

However, one proposal has been made to the committee that all team sports should be dropped. This would affect soccer, basketball, parts of the gymnastic program and water polo.

Other proposals would reduce the number of obligatory sports from the present 13 leaving the organizing cities more flexibility in adopting the program to its own physical and financial possibilities.

Brundage and four members of the Olympic committee organizing the 1960 winter games at Squaw Valley, Calif., are the first Americans to visit Bulgaria—except for two or three reporters—since diplomatic relations were broken in 1949. Half a dozen American reporters also have taken advantage of the relaxation of entry formalities to come in for a look at Sofia.

Sedalia Police To School For Communications

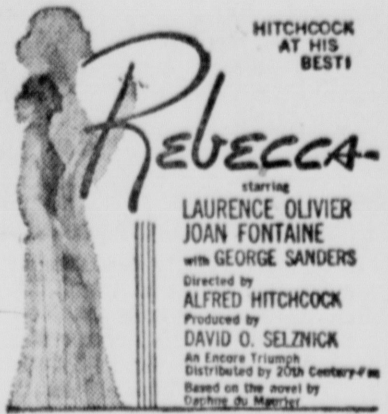

The Sedalia police department is to be represented at the radio communications school to be held at the University of Missouri starting Tuesday, Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors announced Saturday. The three desk sergeants are being sent to Columbia by the city to attend the two-day session.

The officers will be Sergeants Charles L. Homan, Hugh Williams and Cecil Smith.

It is part of the adult education and extension service of the University.

The University, in cooperation with the Missouri Associated Police Communications officers, will conduct a short course in police radio communications in the Memorial Student Union Building in Columbia.

Vandall Dalby, 27, charged with being intoxicated and disturbing the peace of John M. Drenan, Miller Hotel, appeared in police court and was fined $35. He pleaded guilty.

Vernon Douglas Ritchie, 501 West Third, and A/1c William Bernard Kazinier, Whiteman AFB, were charged with careless driving in connection with an accident at 16th and Grand early Saturday.

Ritchie failed to appear in police court and his $25 cash bond was forfeited, while Kazinier appeared in court and was dismissed. Kazinier pleaded innocent to the charge.

C. L. DeLapp, 1416 South Sneed, charged with blocking a private driveway in the 200 block on South Osage, forfeited a $2 cash bond.

Magistrate Court

Harold Stone, Windsor, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of littering the highway. The complaint was filed by the owner of a farm where Stone was seen dumping some trash. Stone pleaded guilty.

Joseph Rust, Orland Park, Ill., was fined $5 and costs on a charge of fishing without a valid Missouri license. Rust pleaded guilty.

Carrel Lane, Sedalia, was fined $100 and costs and given a 90-day suspended sentence. His sentence was suspended on condition that he contacted a member of Alcoholics Anonymous. Lane was charged with not keeping his car under proper control and testimony was given indicating driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. Lane also had a record of previous offenses. He pleaded guilty.

Circuit Court

Robert Porter, Dresden, was sentenced to two years at Algon by Judge Dimmitt Hoffman on a charge of second degree burglary. Porter admitted entering the Guthrie Service Station at the junction of Highway 50 and 127. Special Deputy Sheriff John Brooks also confiscated two sets of chrome hubcaps that had been reported missing when he made the arrest.

Alma Lee Heverly was granted a divorce from Edward M. Heverly on grounds of general indignities. George H. Miller represented the plaintiff.

Marian Harmon was granted a divorce from Marcellus W. Harmon on grounds of desertion. Martin and Gibson represented the plaintiff.

Steam heat first was used in 1784 by James Watt, who used steam coils to heat his office.

When a telephone man drives, safety comes first!

One of the first things telephone people learn is that no job is so urgent it can't be done safely. The remarkable safe driving records made by telephone men is proof they've learned that lesson well.

By telephone news reporter
Don Davis

It's too bad that safety records are often thought of as dull and not newsworthy while a major accident makes front page headlines. The greatest human drama is in the accidents that don't happen—the accidents that good safety habits prevent from happening!

Not long ago, a newspaper editor wrote, "We salute the drivers of telephone company trucks. They never drive fast or recklessly, time and again we've seen them yield truck fleet, but it must be excellent. It is nothing short of inspiring to see an entire corps of drivers display the courtesy and friendliness that is habitual with telephone company drivers."

SAFE MEN BEHIND THE WHEEL. Courtesy and thoughtfulness are trademarks of telephone people who drive on the job—one of many ways telephone employees try always to be good neighbors and good citizens of the communities they serve.

BEST IN NATION

With thanks for such praise, we'd like to confirm the editor's feeling that the safety record in the telephone business must be excellent. It's among the best in the country. The National Safety Council's award of honor—its highest award—was again presented to Southwestern Bell for its safety performance in 1956. Scores of state and local safety awards also were earned, including many presented to telephone people as individuals.

But more important than the awards for safety are the results. When you consider that Southwestern Bell vehicles logged some 72 million miles last year, it's easy to see how the public benefits. Telephone company safe driving practices are a major protection of life and property—a way of working that's summed up in the slogan: No job is so urgent it can't be done safely.

ADD EXTRA VALUE

Safety behind the wheel is, of course, the form of telephone company safety most apparent and closest to the public. But telephone safety behind the scenes is a very real and constant thing, too. Motor vehicles get regular inspections, are kept in top condition. Tools, equipment and methods are constantly being studied to improve the safety factor, designed to reduce accidents.

Telephone service shows its value in many ways. Not the least of its value is the thoughtful way telephone people bring it to you—safely, with always a sincere regard for life and property.

SAFETY-RATER DEVICE provides checks and tests of company's drivers. Device rates reflexes and vision, points out weaknesses that practice and extra caution can overcome.

Regional Library Notes

Books Available to Help Find New Bedtime Stories

Mothers and fathers in need of some new bedtime stories for young children can find some charmingly told and illustrated books for the youngest set at the Boonslick Regional Library.

New acquisitions include copies of old favorites and a number of new juvenile stories now on the book market.

"Three Little Animals" by Margaret Wise Brown is the story of three little fur animals who go out into the world of people, two dressed in the clothes of people and the third and smallest one costumed in hollow logs for shoes, a coat of big green leaves, and little plants planted on a saucer for a hat. Their adventures are delightfully portrayed by the pictures of Garth Williams who has teamed with Miss Brown before in some of her best-loved books. "Anatole and the Cat" by Eve Titus is the adventure of a French mouse who is First Vice-President in Charge of Cheese-Tasting at the factory of M'sieu Duvall. Anatole's great problem is what to do with a cat who so frightens the Cheese-Taster that he gives confused directions as to how to improve the cheese and near-disastrous results occur.

"The Four Seasons" by William P. Gottlieb is the story of Billy and his dog Buff and the year of fun the seasons bring to them. Pictures are excellent and in true color.

Margot Austin's "Growl Bear," now in its fifth printing, is the tale of a lovable little bear who frightens away would-be friends by his growl, the only language he can speak. With the help of Old Owl Little Growl Bear makes many friends.

Phyllis McGinley's "The Make-Believe Twins," another favorite of younger children, is the told-in-rhyme story of Peter and Penny and their adventures in the world of make-believe.

But perhaps the best book of all for a bedtime story is the new book by Naama Zimmerman, "The Sleepy Village." It tells about a little village by the sea which is wide awake on market day as the children dance and sing and vendors shout their wares. As the clock hands move on the village quiets down till at eight the wares are packed away, the people move toward home, and the little town settles down to sleep.

This week's bookmobile schedule:

Tuesday, Sept. 24 — Hughesville School, Hughesville downtown.

Wednesday, Sept. 25 — Smithton School, Smithton downtown.

Thursday, Sept. 26 — Bothwell, Longwood, Cartwright, Postal, Clifton City, Beaman.

WMS Observes State Mission Day of Prayer

Nine members and six guests of the Olive Branch WMS met Sept. 6 at the church. The program, "Pakistan, New Fields for Southern Baptists" was presented by Mrs. J. R. Blaylock and Mrs. Tom Fletcher.

Husbands of the members were guests at a fellowship refreshment period following the meeting.

On Sept. 13 eight members met at the church for observance of state mission day of prayer.

Those presenting the program were Mrs. Huebert Hull, Mrs. Roy Holman, Miss Nina Grimes, Mrs. J. R. Blaylock, Mrs. Grant Potter and Mrs. Roy Cunningham. Devotional thoughts were by Mrs. Tom Fletcher and Mrs. E. Y. Hyatt led in prayer.

Public Library Notes

Easily Used Index Offers
Answers to Your Questions

Have you ever lost an argument because you couldn't prove your point? You remember reading about the subject somewhere—but where?

If this has ever happened to you, perhaps the indexes available at the Sedalia Public Library may help.

Almost every question can be answered by means of a periodical article. One of the most helpful indexes is "The Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature," which lists by subject magazine articles published in more than 100 magazines. The service was started in 1900 and continues right up to last week.

Naturally "The Reader's Guide" after a half century of publication no longer has a streamlined figure, but appears in 20 volumes and has a total of nearly 50,000 pages. Each volume is used exactly like a dictionary. Every article indexed is put under at least two headings: subject and author. Movie reviews can also be located through "Reader's Guide," in addition to poems, drama reviews, and articles on atomic power, mental hygiene, United Nations and thousands of other subjects.

Other indexes include Biography Index and Essay and General Literature Index. Through the library indexes it is possible to track down information on virtually every subject. Ask about these helpful indexing tools the next time you are in the library.

Baptist Association
Has Annual Session

The 86th annual session of the Lamine Baptist Association was held at Syracuse Baptist Church Thursday and Friday all day and evening sessions. The theme was "Associational Missions in World Missions." Three hundred and fifty were registered and represented 16 churches. Guest speakers were Dr. W. H. Allison and the Rev. Billy Hargrove, Jefferson City; Dr. Curtis Hutchison, Warrensburg; Miss Irene Brannum, missionary to Pusan, Korea, and the Rev. O. R. Shields, St. Louis.

The meals were served in the church dining room.

Meandering Minnesotans

NEW YORK (AP)—Student-actors from the University of Minnesota are being sent abroad as the first college drama group representing American art under the international culture exchange program.

The theater company is to tour Brazil in two plays, Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" and Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The exchange program is administered here by the American National Theater and Academy.

Mizpah Elects
Its Officers
For the Year

By Jim Couhig

Sacred Heart's pep club, the Mizpah, has elected officers for the coming year.

Alinda Corp was elected president, Marie Springer vice-president, Marianne Keens treasurer, and Patricia Siefner secretary. Janet Harper and Barbara Mayfield were elected sergeant-at-arms.

With the activity drive under way, candidates were elected to represent the various classes. The candidates are: Seniors, Ruth Ann Bahner; Juniors, Hannalora Taylor; Sophomores, Catherine Mehl; Freshmen, Betty Lou Martin. The class whose activity sales are the highest will have the honor of crowning its class queen at the Alumni game.

Sacred Heart cheerleaders held their first practice Thursday. The members of this year's cheerleading squad are: Linda Wiesing, head cheerleader; Phyllis Aggeler, Marge Hogan and Patricia Siefner. The juniors ordered their class rings Friday and expect them to arrive before Christmas.

The sophomores held a class meeting Wednesday with President Catherine Mehl, discussing plans for the coming Activity Drive.

Progressive Club
Installs New Officers

Mrs. Gene Brockman was installed as president of Blackwater Progressive Club Sept. 13 by Mrs. Ernest Rhodes. Other officers include: vice president, Mrs. Howard Brownfield; parliamentarian, Mrs. Raymond Brandt; reporter, Mrs. John Colson and game and song leader, Mrs. R. Tyler.

The group completed the making of cancer dressings. A total of 300 have been made. A thank you note was read from Mrs. Crawford. Mrs. Zimmerman's letter was read by Mrs. Howard Brownfield.

Mrs. Elroy Schroeder, LaMonte, was a guest.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Earl McClanahan.
